

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the invention include a method to access a web site. A plurality of links are identified using a web browser component, where the links are selectable to open a corresponding web resource of a specified data type on the web site. The plurality of 5 links are made available to a plurality of Internet enabled devices that select one or more of the links.